Details matter

The new environmental search report from Groundsure

Groundsure is the most comprehensive environmental search report available with seven key searches. Alongside an intuitive design and plain English explanations, the results are intelligently filtered to clarify risks and next steps quickly and clearly.

The unique and powerful Groundsure IQ engine analyses over 106 million data points to produce every Groundsure report. These include data on Contaminated Land, all four major flood risks, ground stability, radon, current and planned energy features and transportation, and 10 years of planning data.

By filtering these environmental datasets, using Land Registry polygons, only relevant results are returned. Plus we've worked hard to ensure that no-one is overwhelmed by confusing jargon and intuitive design makes it easy to locate vital information and next steps.
